

Electricity and Gas Consultants Required

Adam Smith International (ASI) is a leading government advisory consultancy that works throughout the world to help countries reform their economies and government institutions. We are at the cutting edge of the fields in which we work and have an outstanding reputation for delivering results.

We are looking to expand our network of electricity and gas consultants and invite interested individuals to register their CVs with ASI. In particular, we are keen to hear from consultants with international development experience and, ideally, at least 10 years' consulting expertise in one or more of the following areas:

- Expertise in the design of power sector policy/strategy
- Expertise in: generation; transmission; distribution planning/operation/management/procurement or reform
- Significant experience in gas planning/operation/management/procurement or reform
- Gas and/or power regulation, modelling, procurement and tariff reform
- Business process reform, sector and business governance

Consultants should have demonstrated ability to build productive relationships with people from a wide range of professional and cultural backgrounds, to work effectively in politically sensitive and physically challenging environments, and ability to work well within a team environment.

Consultants should register their CV with ASI at the following address: energyadvisor@adamsmithinternational.com. Applications will only be accepted by email.
