

Rule of Law Experts

Adam Smith International (ASI) is seeking to refresh and expand its network of associate consultants with expertise across the rule of law sector.

We are seeking experts with expertise in the following technical areas:

- » Access to justice including legal aid and paralegal training
- » Institutional strengthening of the judiciary, court administration and other justice sector bodies
- » Human rights training
- » Constitutional drafting and development
- » Legislative drafting, including anti-discrimination legislation
- » Addressing violence against women and girls
- » Community justice mechanisms including alternative dispute resolution
- » Traditional and customary justice systems
- » Transitional justice

ASI anticipates that substantial work will be generated by framework contracts recently tendered by the UK Department for International Development (DFID) for projects in the justice and security sectors, and has built strong consortia in response to these tenders. ASI has held a framework contract with DFID since 2007 and has won over 45 projects in 16 different countries and at a value of over £40m through this contract, deploying over 200 associate consultants to projects in Libya, Somalia, Zimbabwe, Afghanistan, Kenya, Iraq, Pakistan, Palestine, South Sudan, Uganda, Tanzania, Burundi and Yemen, amongst others.

About ASI

Founded in 1992, Adam Smith International (ASI) is a leading government and economic reform consultancy that provides advice to foreign governments, with particular focus on developing countries. ASI is based in London, Delhi and Nairobi with project offices throughout Africa, the Middle East and South Asia. We provide high quality governance and economic thinking underpinned by practical support for ministers, officials and citizens at all levels to improve governance and support economic and social change, often in the most difficult circumstances.

Our projects are wide ranging and include public administration reform, civil service reform, security and justice sector reform, peacebuilding and stabilisation, institutional capacity building, public financial management and infrastructure reform.
